

Pulsar Radiation and Quantum Gravity

Philip Kaaret (Harvard-Smithsonian CfA)

Quantum gravity may lead to an energy dependence in the speed of light. I describe how high energy radiation from gamma-ray pulsars may be used to place limits on such effects and compare the results from the Crab pulsar with those obtained from AGN and gamma-ray bursts.